

PARK BENCH '72

Editor's Copy

In September of this school-year, we thought we had the proverbial bull by the horns. We were working with an established yearbook company and our work was all laid out. There was nothing really to do except cut out pictures and make sure that the Student Council paid our debt on time. This was not to be the case.

Over the last three years, as the Park Bench had become a more and more deluxe edition, the debts incurred by students who didn't want the yearbooks they ordered, and by plain over-eagerness for too many improvements too soon, increased.

Thus, when the books were opened in September, we were given two alternatives; the first was to have the debt paid by the Student Council (for the last time) and to kill the Park Bench completely, or to have the debt paid, but with the stipulation that we MUST change yearbook companies. Knowing that if the yearbook was put away it might never be resurrected again, we agreed, albeit half-heartedly at first, to try a new company.

This book represents the sum of student ingenuity, enterprise, and woman or manpower, and tries to show more of the students in action, instead of in rigor mortis.

This edition is dedicated to all the Park Benchers who stuck it out to the end, and the B&C classes who helped to lessen our problems with many thanks to Mr. P. Beatty, our staff advisor, and Messrs Nerlich and Leggate, who took care of our bookkeeping.

To the students who bought this book, "Thank-you", and to the students, who for the first, second, third or fourth year have said what a waste having a yearbook is, we say,

"NYAH!"

Sandy digs ski weekends, old jeans, and French perfume. And she's planning a summer in Europe. That's why she saves her baby-sitting money at the Commerce. She likes the high interest rates. Likes the people. And knows that when she enters University there'll be a Commerce branch nearby. It figures.

1972 marks the fifth year of operation for Westview. Upon reflection, I find that a great many exciting changes have occurred during these years. The staff has doubled; the student enrollment has tripled; the plant has doubled in size to include some excellent facilities; the school has moved from a traditional program to a full credit system, and there has been substantial increase in the number of courses offered.

Accompanying all this change however, has been the steady development of a number of traditions which have made us into an all-round school. In athletics, our teams have steadily improved to a position where they can hold their own with any of the established schools today. In academics, we have produced an ever-increasing number of Ontario scholars and honour-roll students. In music, we have developed a standard of achievement which has won high praise in the Kiwanis festival and scholarships in other competitions. In drama, we have progressed to the level of very competent participation in the Shakespearian festival. In a host of other areas, there have been enough examples of individual excellence to establish Westview's reputation.

This is not to say that we have arrived at a state of perfection and can now sit back complacently. We still have our problems of apathy, of lack of involvement, of communication — all of which seem to be directly related to the question of bigness. But this is the challenge, and we are presently making plans to help combat these problems in the coming year.

With the advantage of hindsight, I can look back over the past five years and detect a number of positive features which have helped develop this school to its present level. One is the high calibre of staff which has in turn elicited a high level of response from students. Another is the quality of student here — we have been most fortunate in this regard. Another is the general degree of flexibility or adaptability on the part of both staff and students which has produced a readiness to accept all the changes that we have experienced. Above all, there seems to have been a spirit of co-operation which has given us the unity necessary to progress.

All of this gives me a clearer idea of what our main purpose has been and should be in the future, and that is, to develop people who are able to cope with a world of rapidly accelerating change. Reports back on our past graduates who are either in post secondary education or working, indicate that this purpose has been achieved to a gratifying degree. To our 1972 graduates, my congratulations and best wishes for similar success. We shall look forward to seeing you at Commencement. To the editorial staff, my congratulations and thanks for your efforts in producing another outstanding edition of the "Park Bench".

VICE-PRINCIPALS

Mr. M. Shiner
Mr. M. Ross
Mr. J. Brewer

This has been a most unusual but enjoyable year. I hope that we, on the Student Council have made it a little more pleasant for you also. It has been a little different from previous years because the students took the incentive to plan and organize events. The famous Christmas assembly and the Winter Carnival, just to mention a few, could not have been possible if it had not been for student involvement.

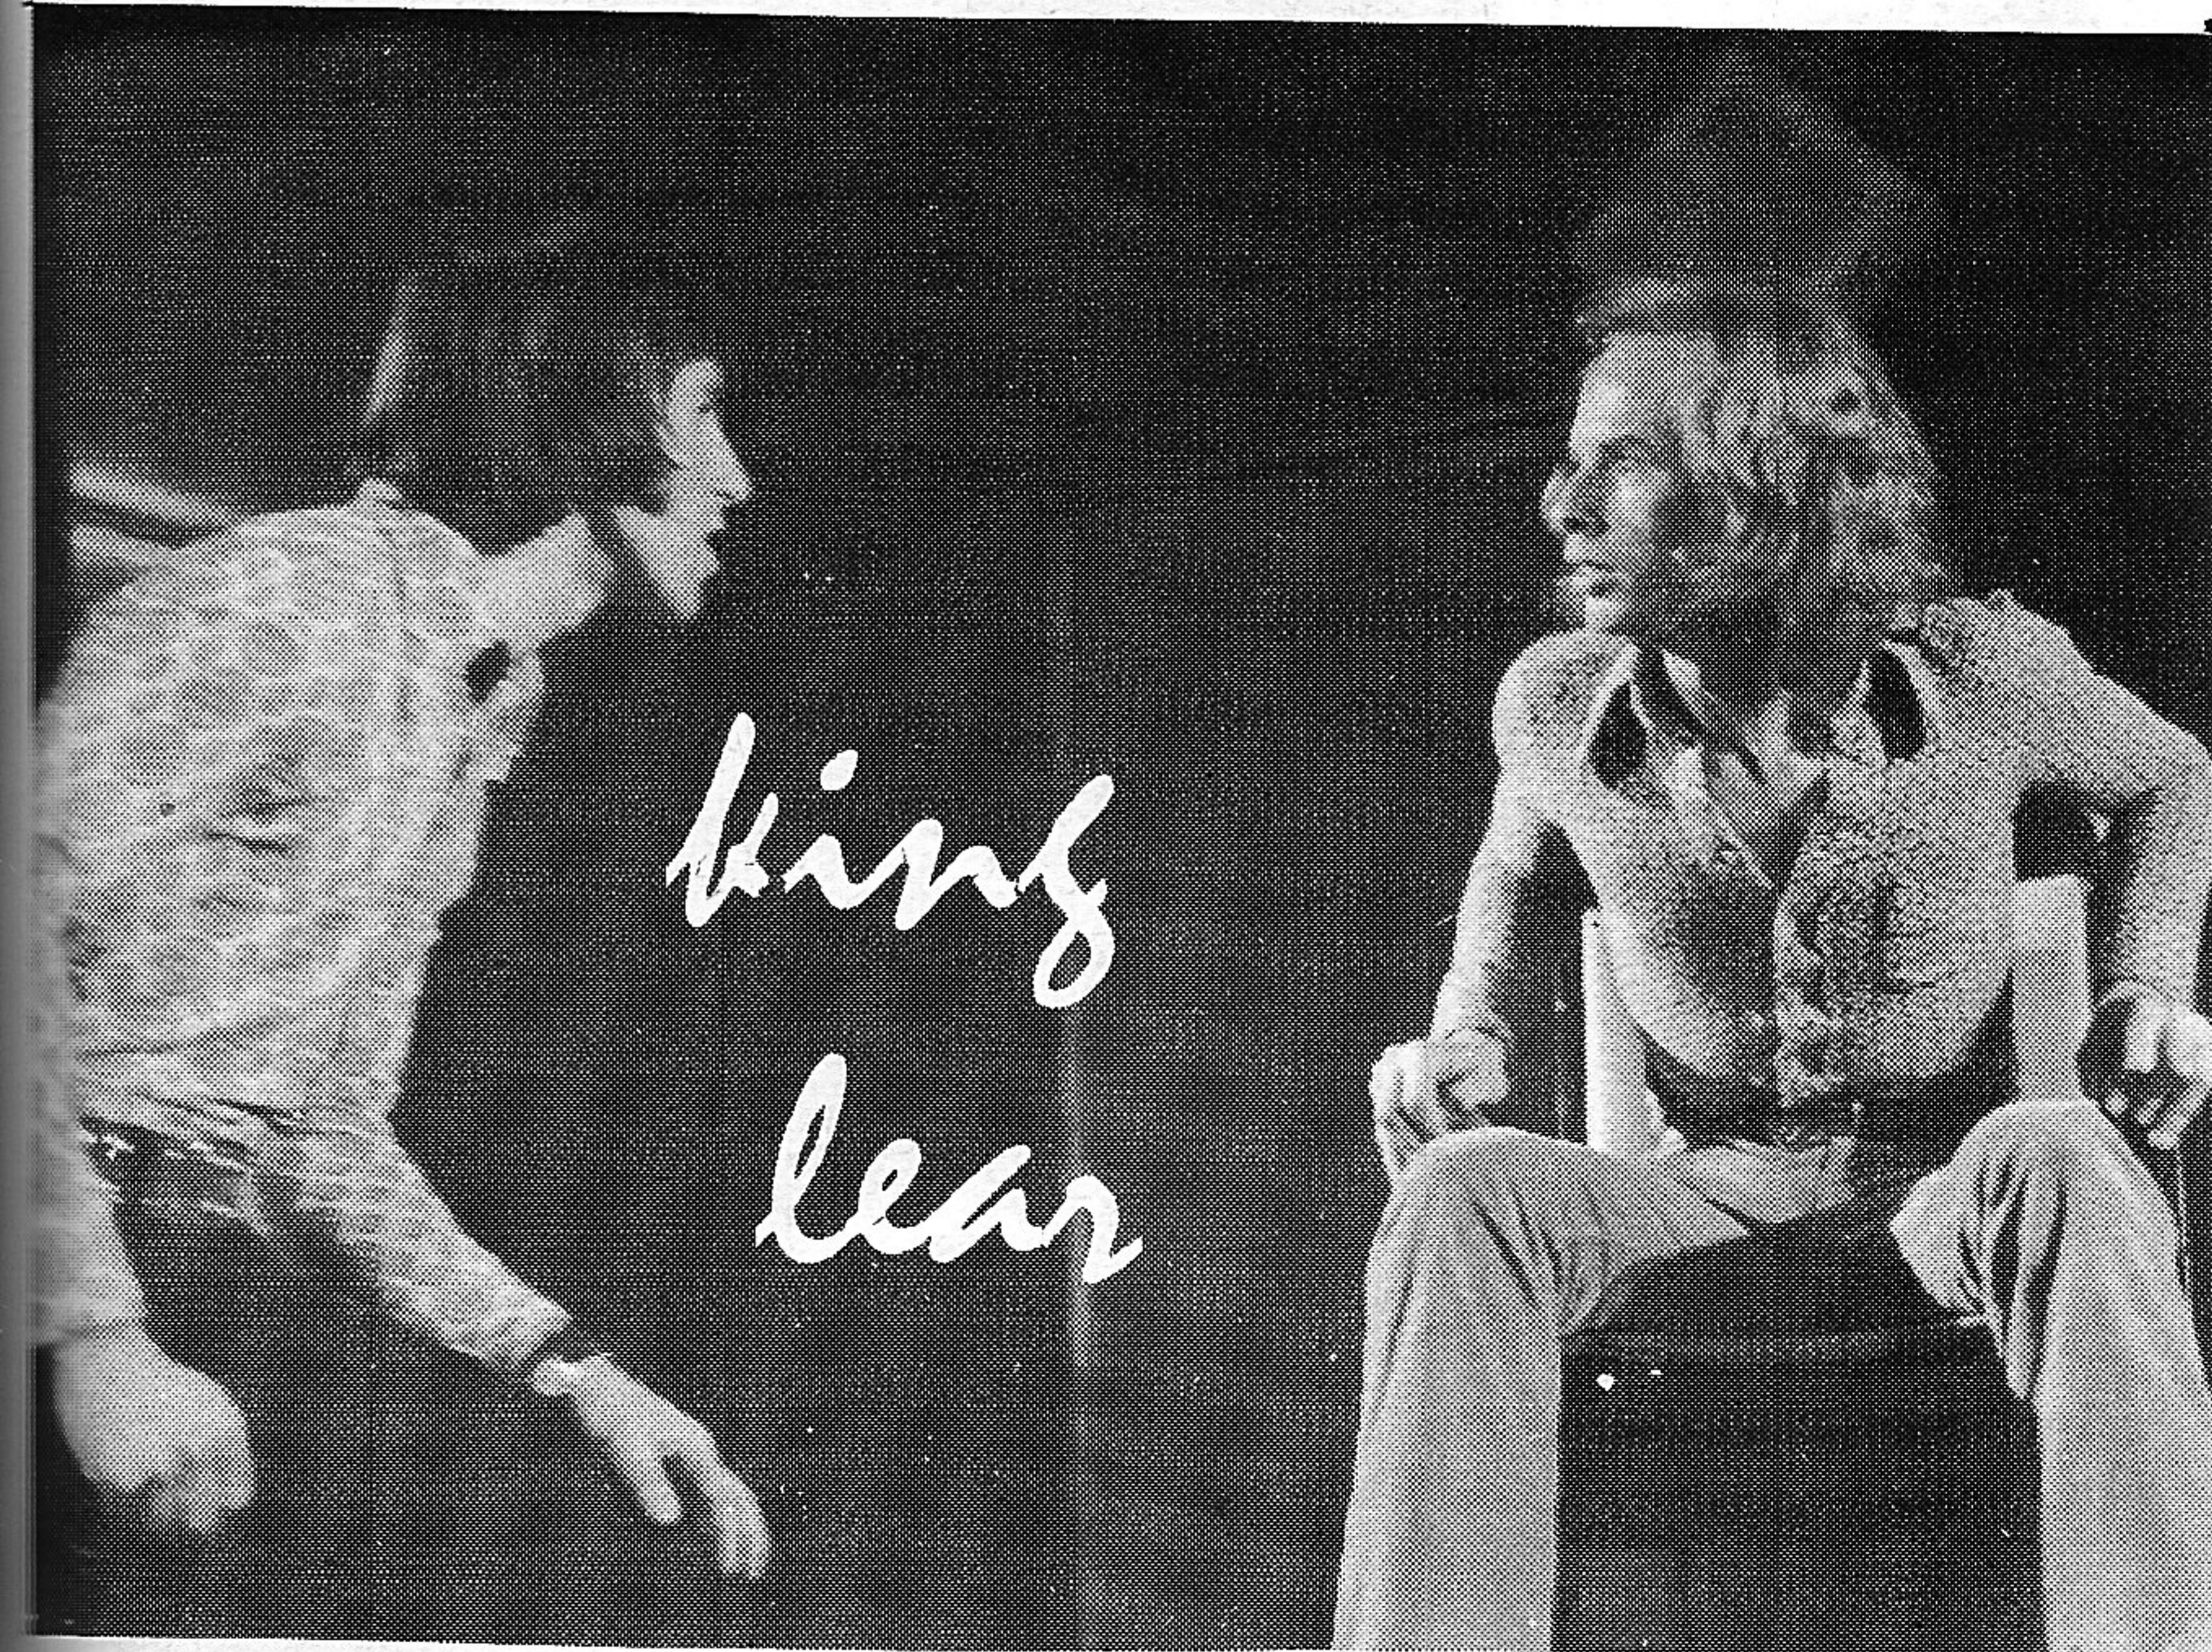

As well as this, more of the school's untouched facilities were put to use this year. The assemblies over the public-address system were very successful and "On the Air", the popular weekly commentary by Bill Waicus, was also something that had never been tried before.

I would now like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped me this year, in particular those people who were not actually members of the Student Council.

One person who also deserves a great deal of thanks for his help, guidance, backing and encouragement is Mr. Diachun. Our appreciation for the work he has done for the students is much greater than a simple "thank you".

To you the students — Thanks for making this a memorable year for me.

"TRUGRIT"

WHERE'S TRUGRIT??

(1)

We're all Canadians,
This our land,
Right now it seems there's a crisis on hand,
When the going get's tough we're the first to admit,
We always call on our leader Trugrit.

(2)

We've always lived
close to the U. S. of A, Free and secure in a strange sort of way,
They own our resources
but only a bit,
We can rely on our leader Trugrit.

(3)

We've never worried about our defence, ABM rockets will not make us tense,
If fired over us we will just have to sit,
We'll be protected by Mr. Trugrit.

(4)

We're not persuaded by U. S. T.V.,
We only tune in the C.
B.C.
And where do we turn
for drama and wit?
Our talented leader
Pierre trugrit.

(5)

This news of a merger has shaken us all,
We've not been so shocked since we heard from De Gaulle, Our apathy seems to have melted a bit, Oh Where, Oh Where is our leader Trugrit??

Words to the song by Mr. Shiner.

'NYET!'

The highlight of last year 1970-71 was a big stage production produced jointly by the Music department and the Theatre Arts department with help from the History and Art departments.

Mr. Shiner, Mr. Diachun, and several senior students wrote the script and Mr. Reid wrote some original material for the pit orchestra which included most of the Senior Band members and the Senior Strings.

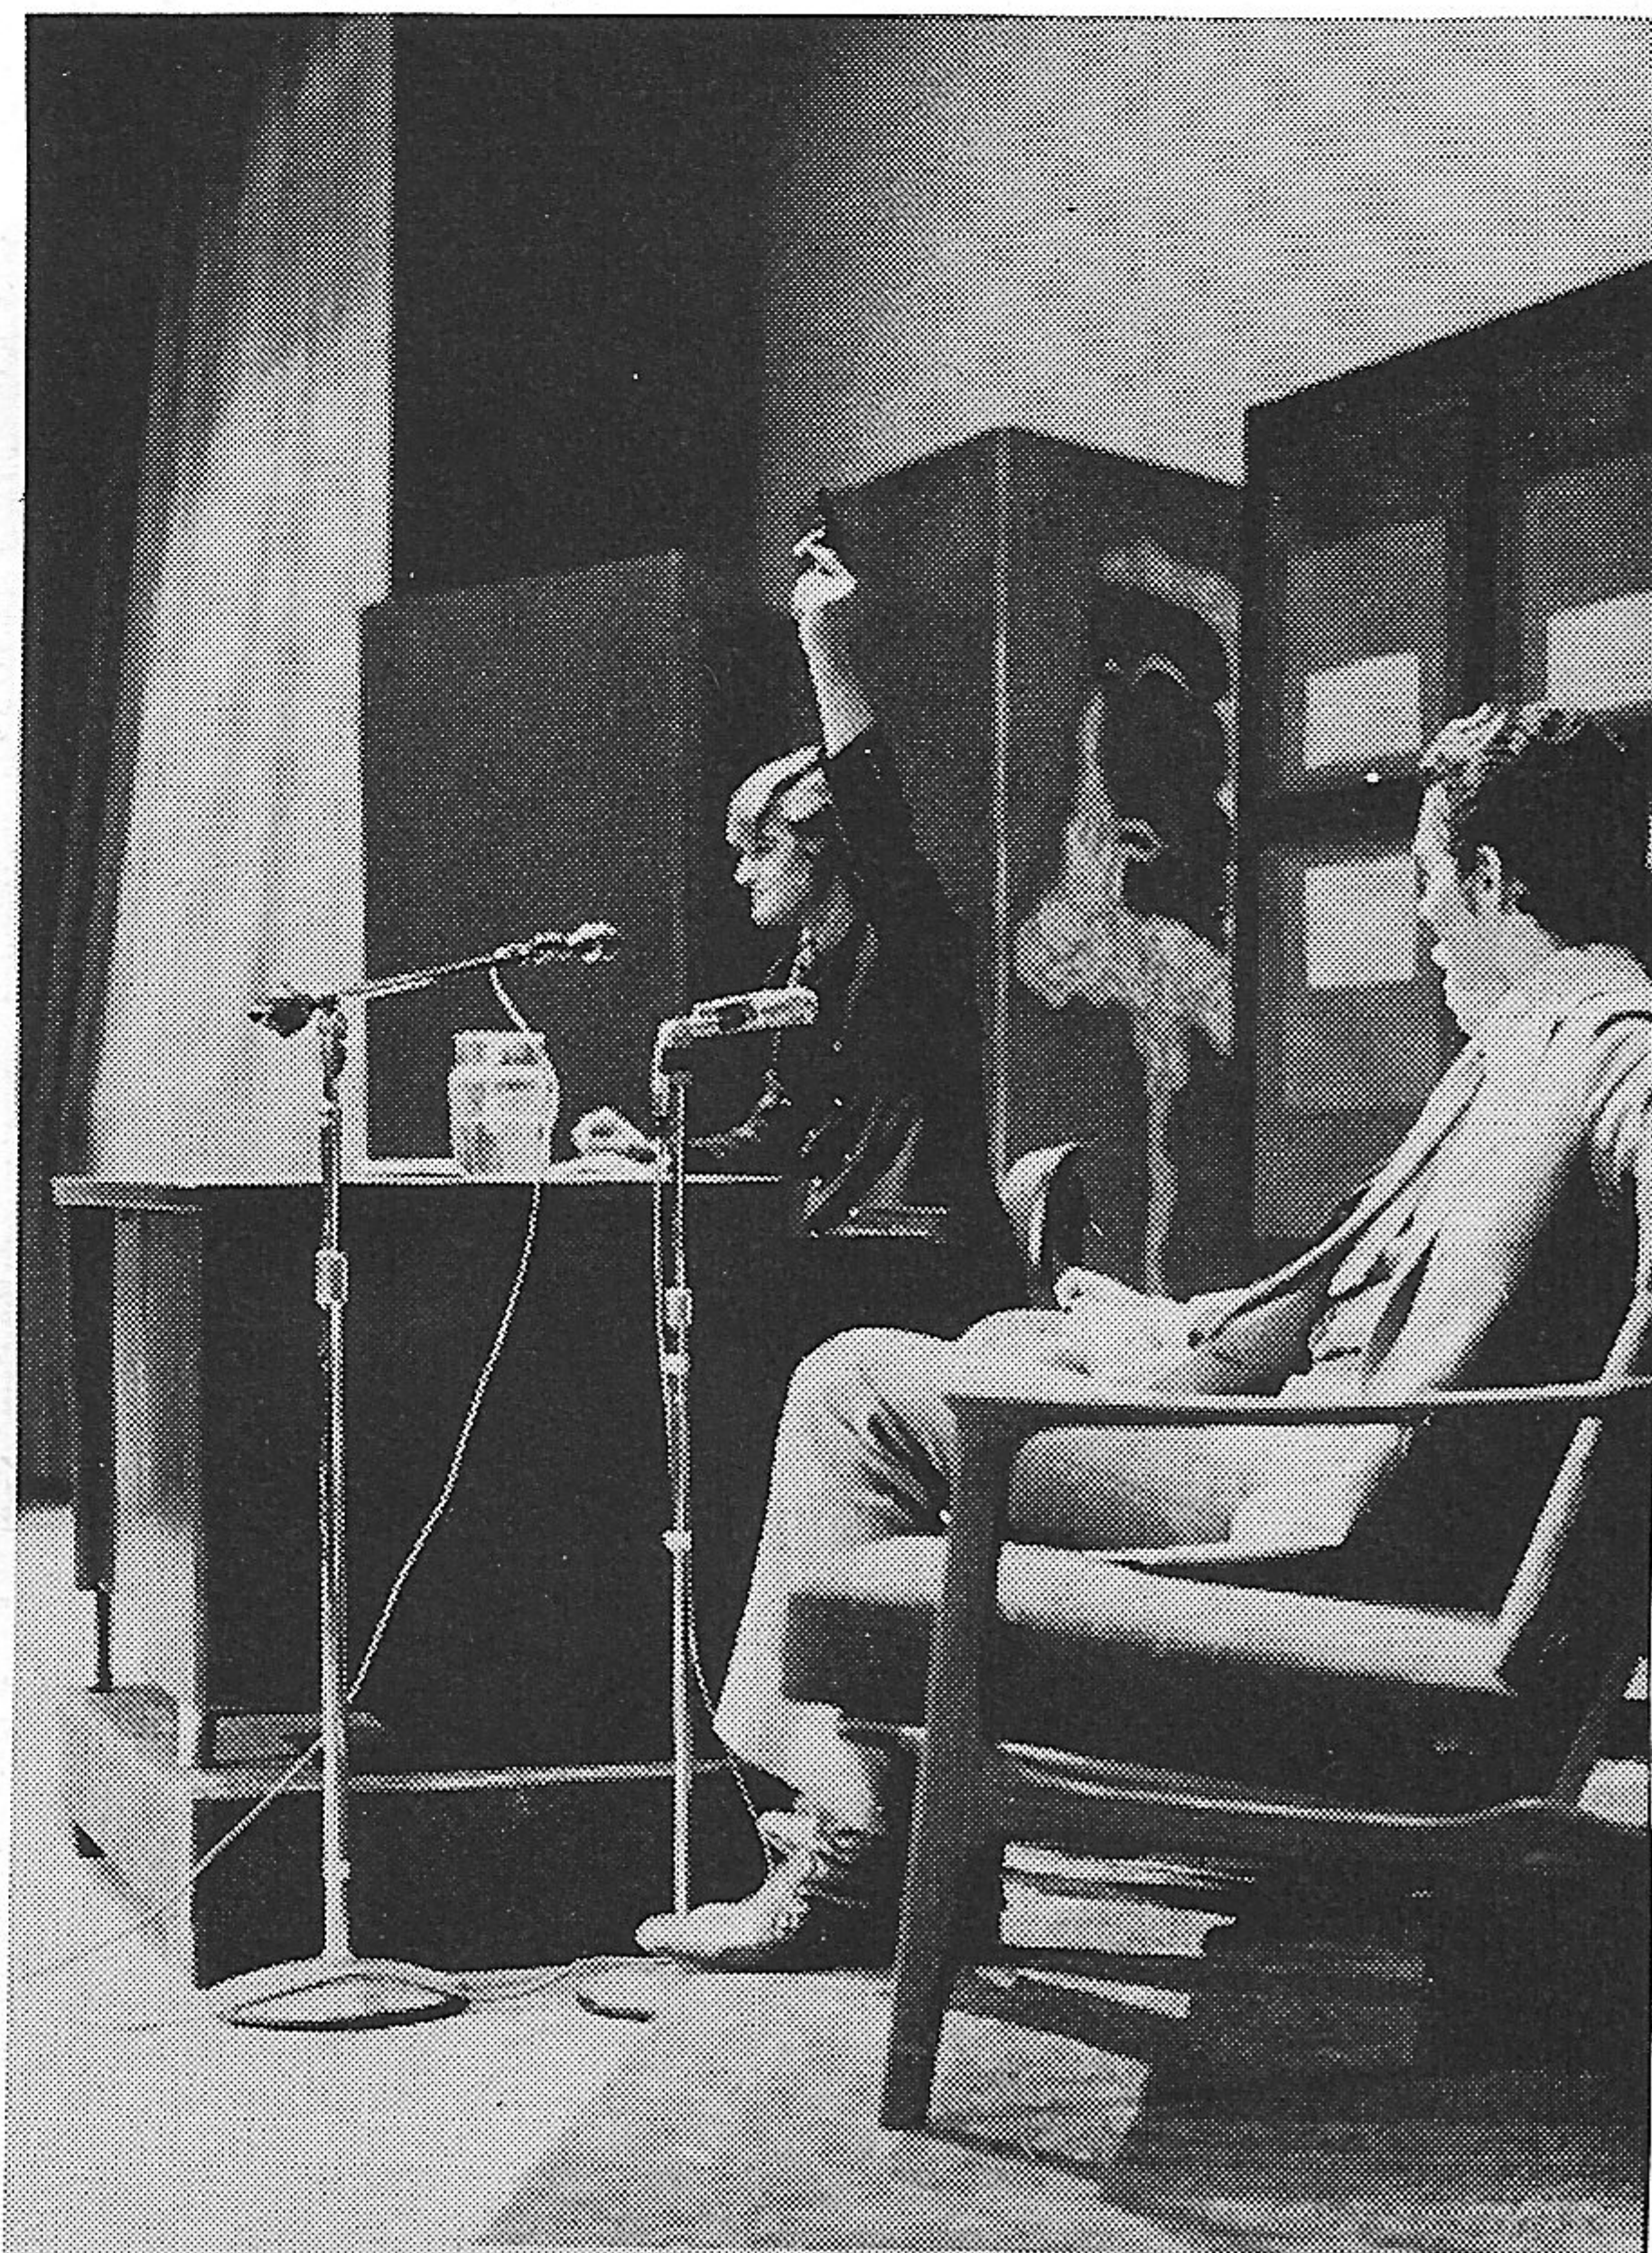

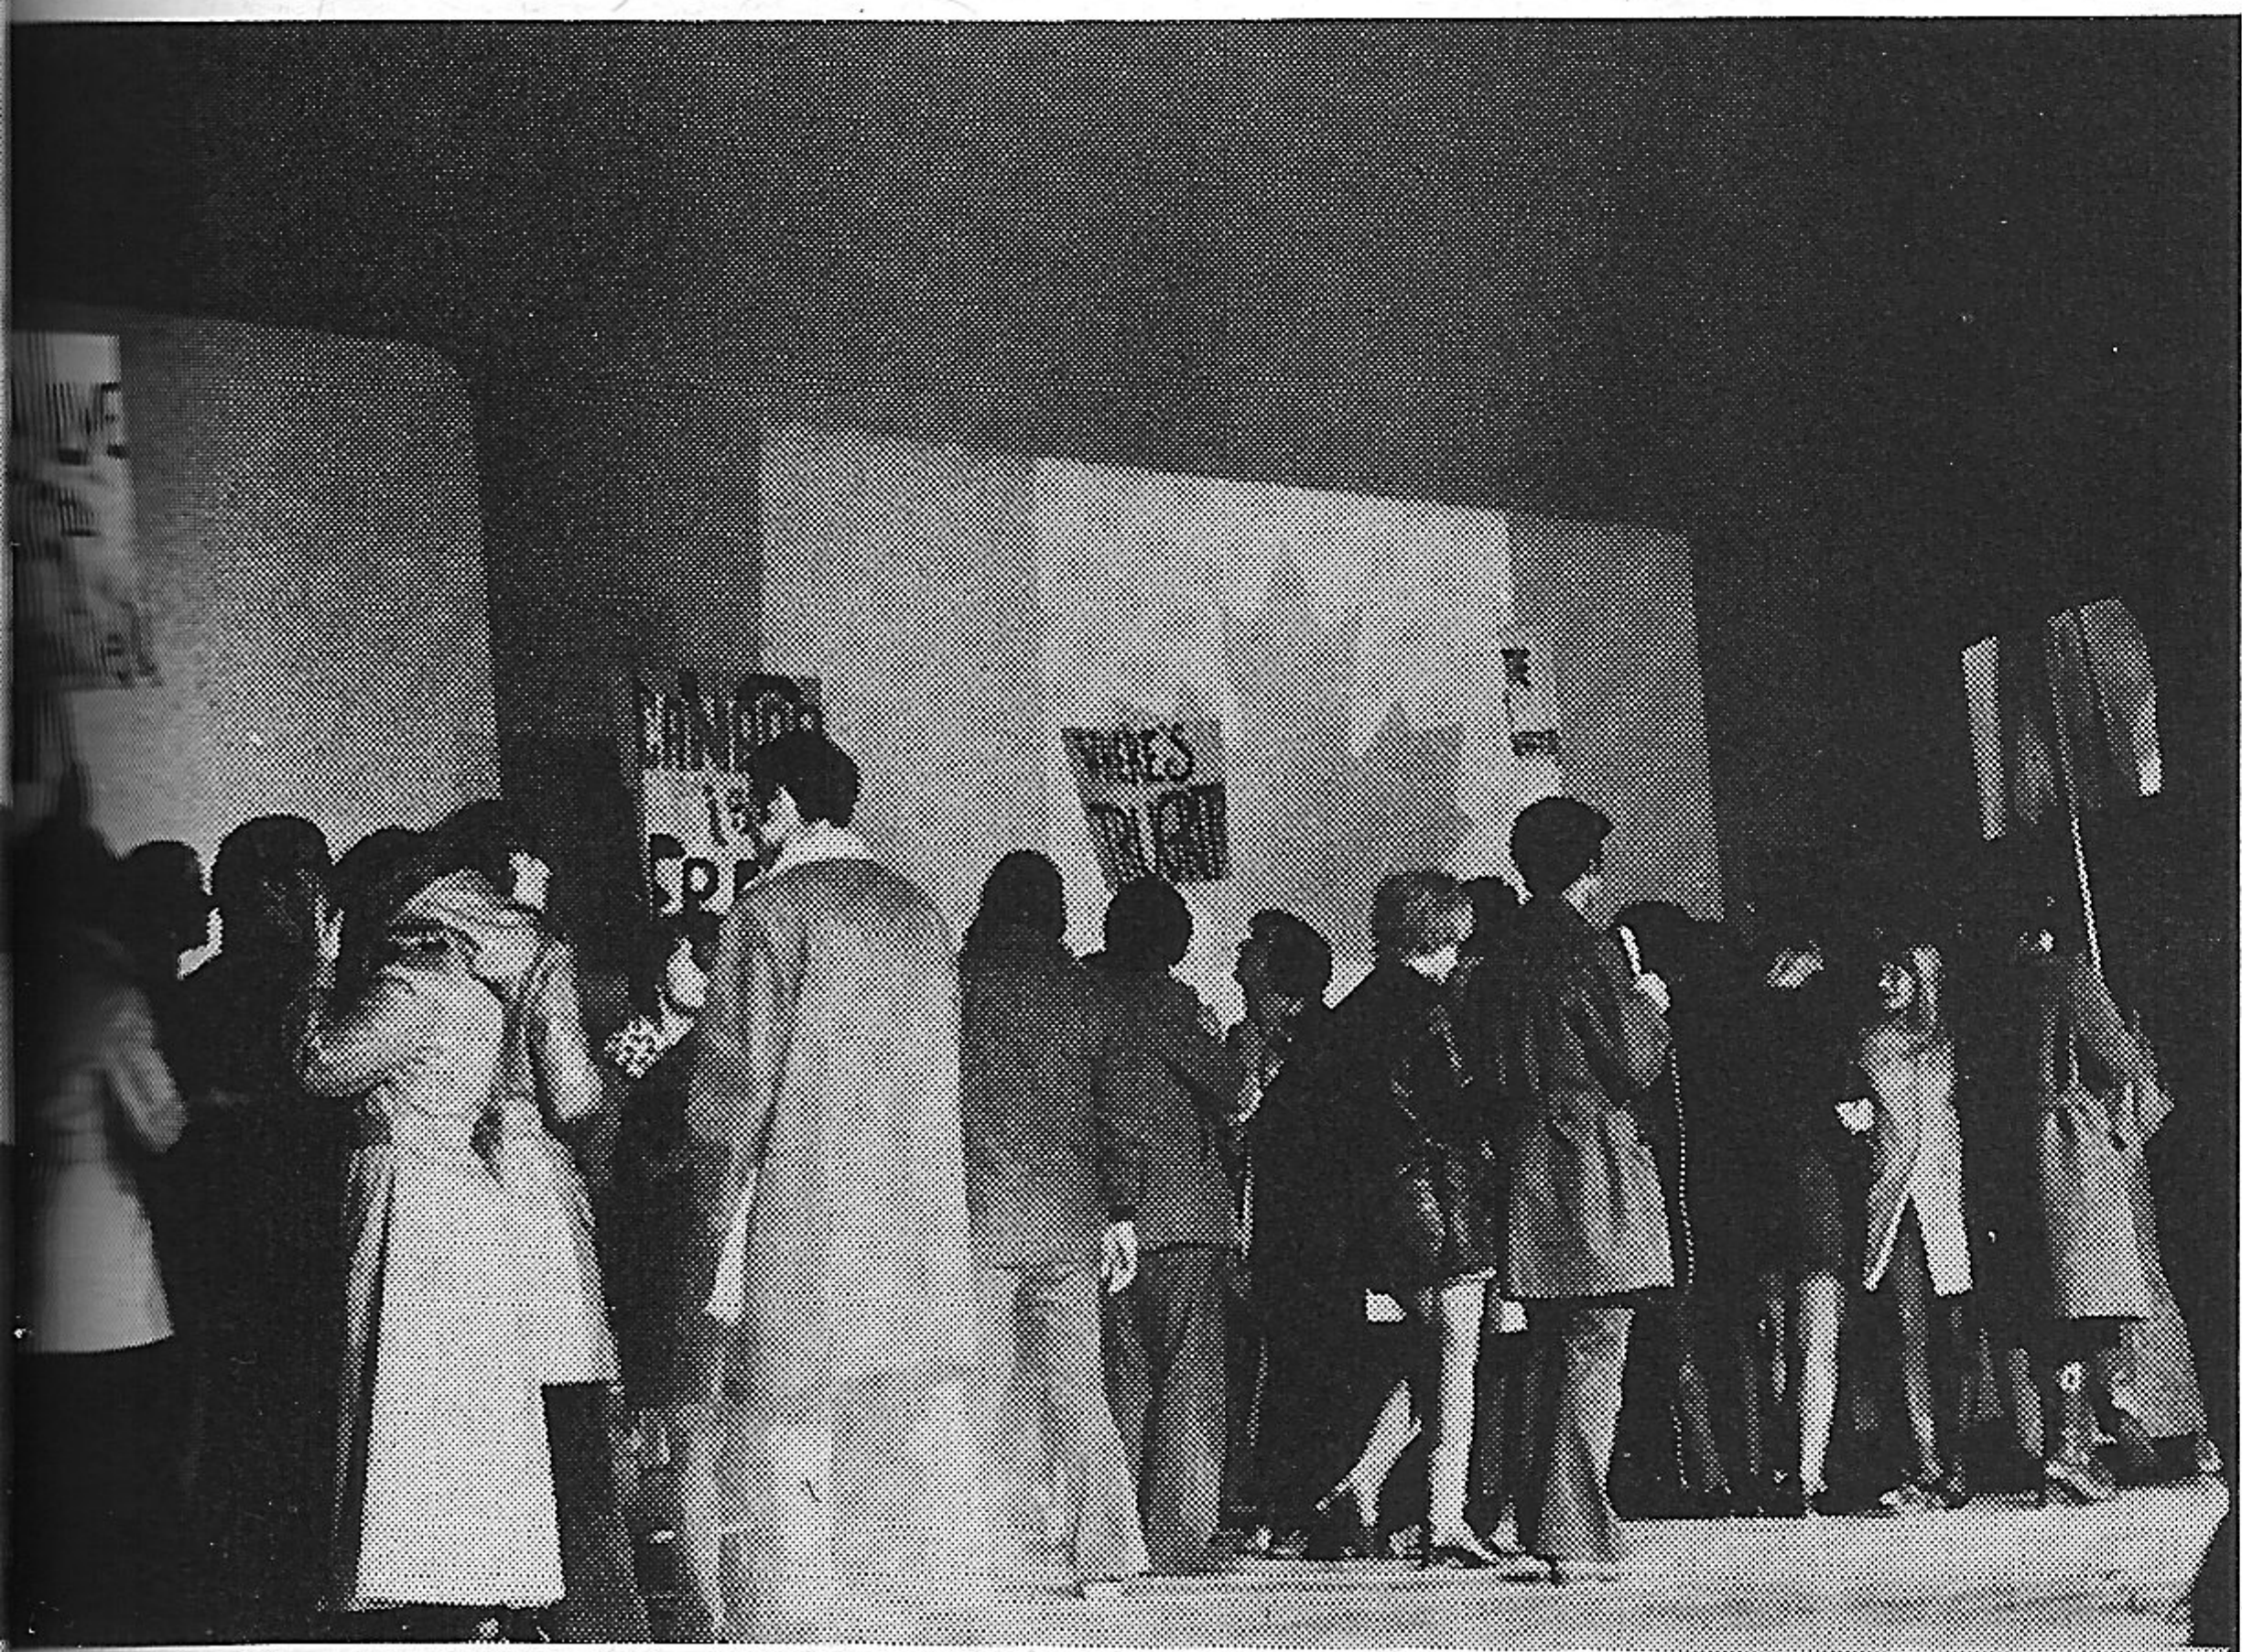

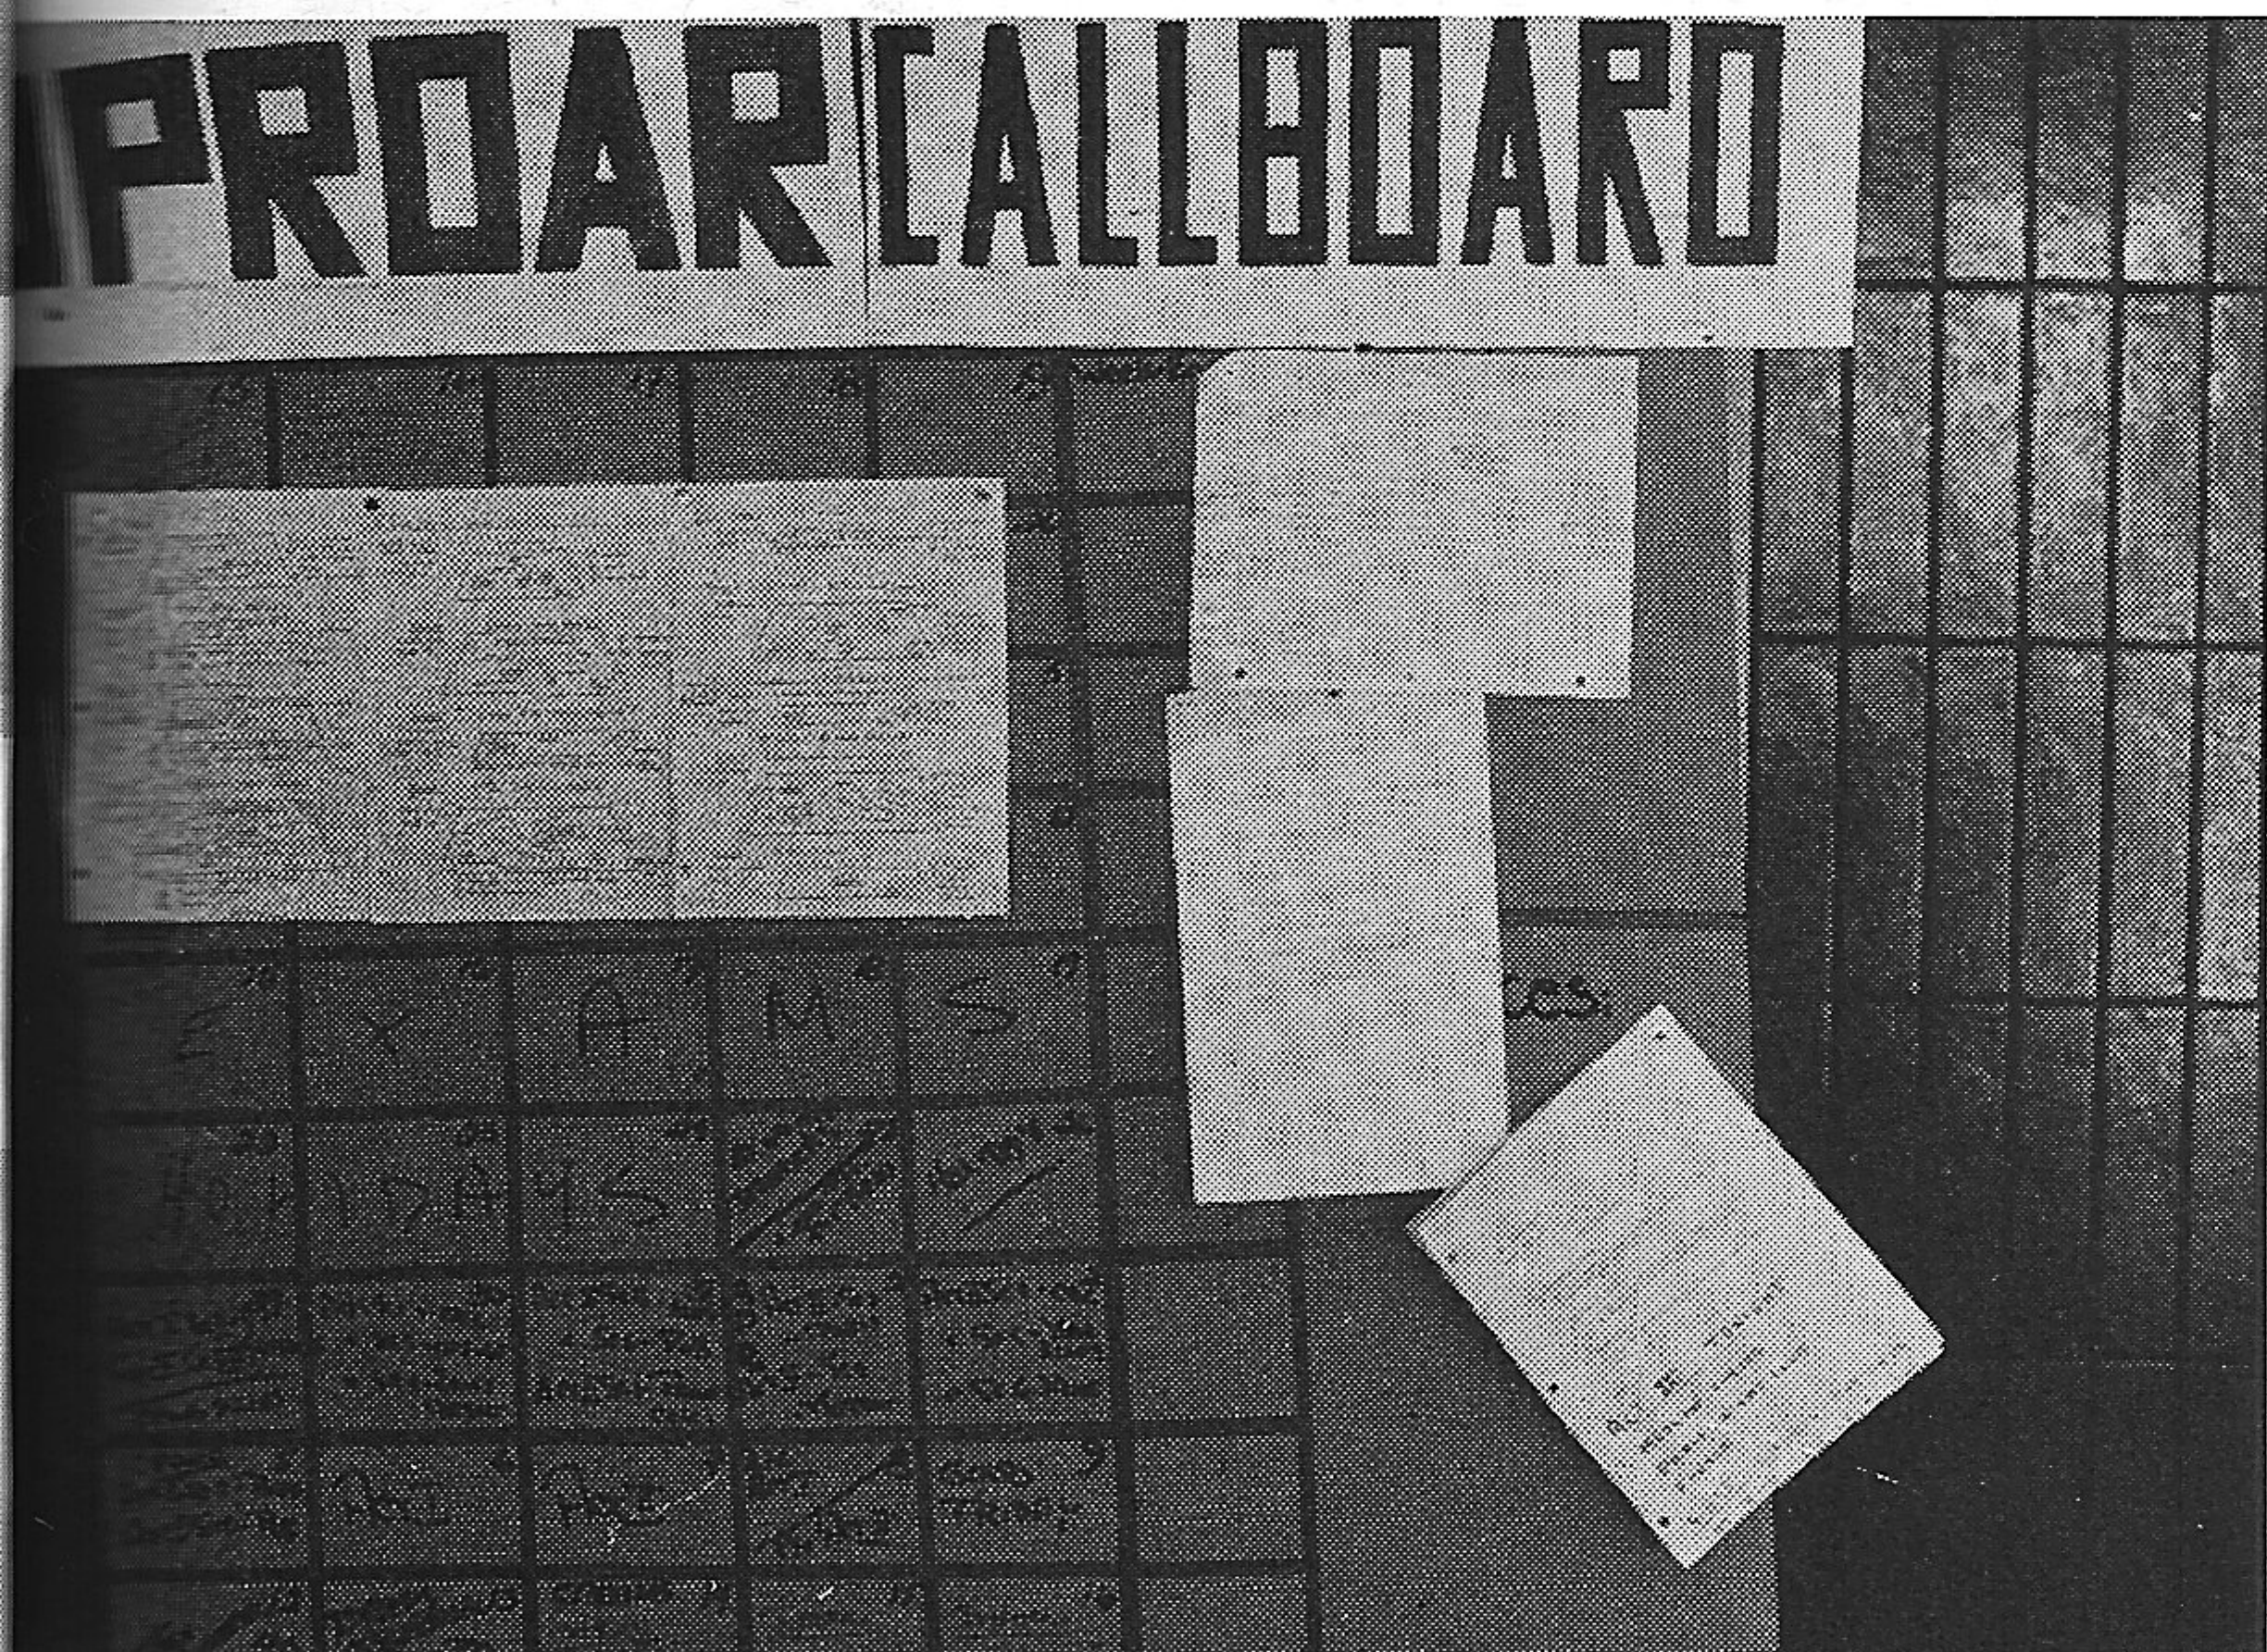

Nearly 300 people were involved in the production counting extras, musicians, makeup personnel, set painters, costumers, and the stage crew. The show lasted for three nights and played to overfilling houses.

Despit several near mishaps when one leading character was hit on the chin with one of the "props", a real gun, and had to be rushed to the hospital for several stitches and then play his part on stage, and another got caught in some cable and scenery backstage with only a minute to go before she was due on, the Great Canadian Uproar was a big success that will long be remembered by Westview students.

The Editors would like to pay a special tribute to those special people who fetch and carry for all the school's productions, and still find time to turn on the lights and sound

STAGE CREW.

Alien

The crowd surged by,
Hustling-bustling, to get Ahead-in line-
I dodge their elbows and their feet,
Trying to get out.

Each person starving for the ultimate-
The meatpie,
With gravy too,
Or perhaps some peas.
Most get the same.
The line-up plays few favourites.

They are just children,
Playing a game— school.
The loser loses and
The winner loses too.
Perhaps I should laugh
But that's against the rules.
And besides
I already have My tray.

Ken Halbach

Rose

A rose
By any other name—
T'would smell so sweet,
But wouldn't sound so fair
To justify
The velvet skin or the fragrance there?

Would the colour captured by that spite
Be just the shade
Or ne'er so right?

The essence of that "fleur d'amour"
The embodiment within,
The softness, roundness, entity
Is vaguely captured, Pseudonym.

Steve Wilsher

To Liz

Remember when everything that mattered, didn't

To those who mattered most,
And confusion crowned the unknown,
Losing us on the way to Somewhere
With signs that pointed Nowhere
And YIELD RIGHT OF WAY to a ONE WAY street where there was NO LEFT TURN (or is it no turn left?) because In the crush,
the rush,
the hurry,

The sign sign NO STOPPING: 9AM — 3PM,
And they didn't care.
But you were in luck, and went around the corner Where you (one) became you (two)
And left behind the passing parade, the mobile zoo.
Now, if we meet, you (two) and I,
Our eyes and hands reach out Saying in the golden space between us,
"Friend!"

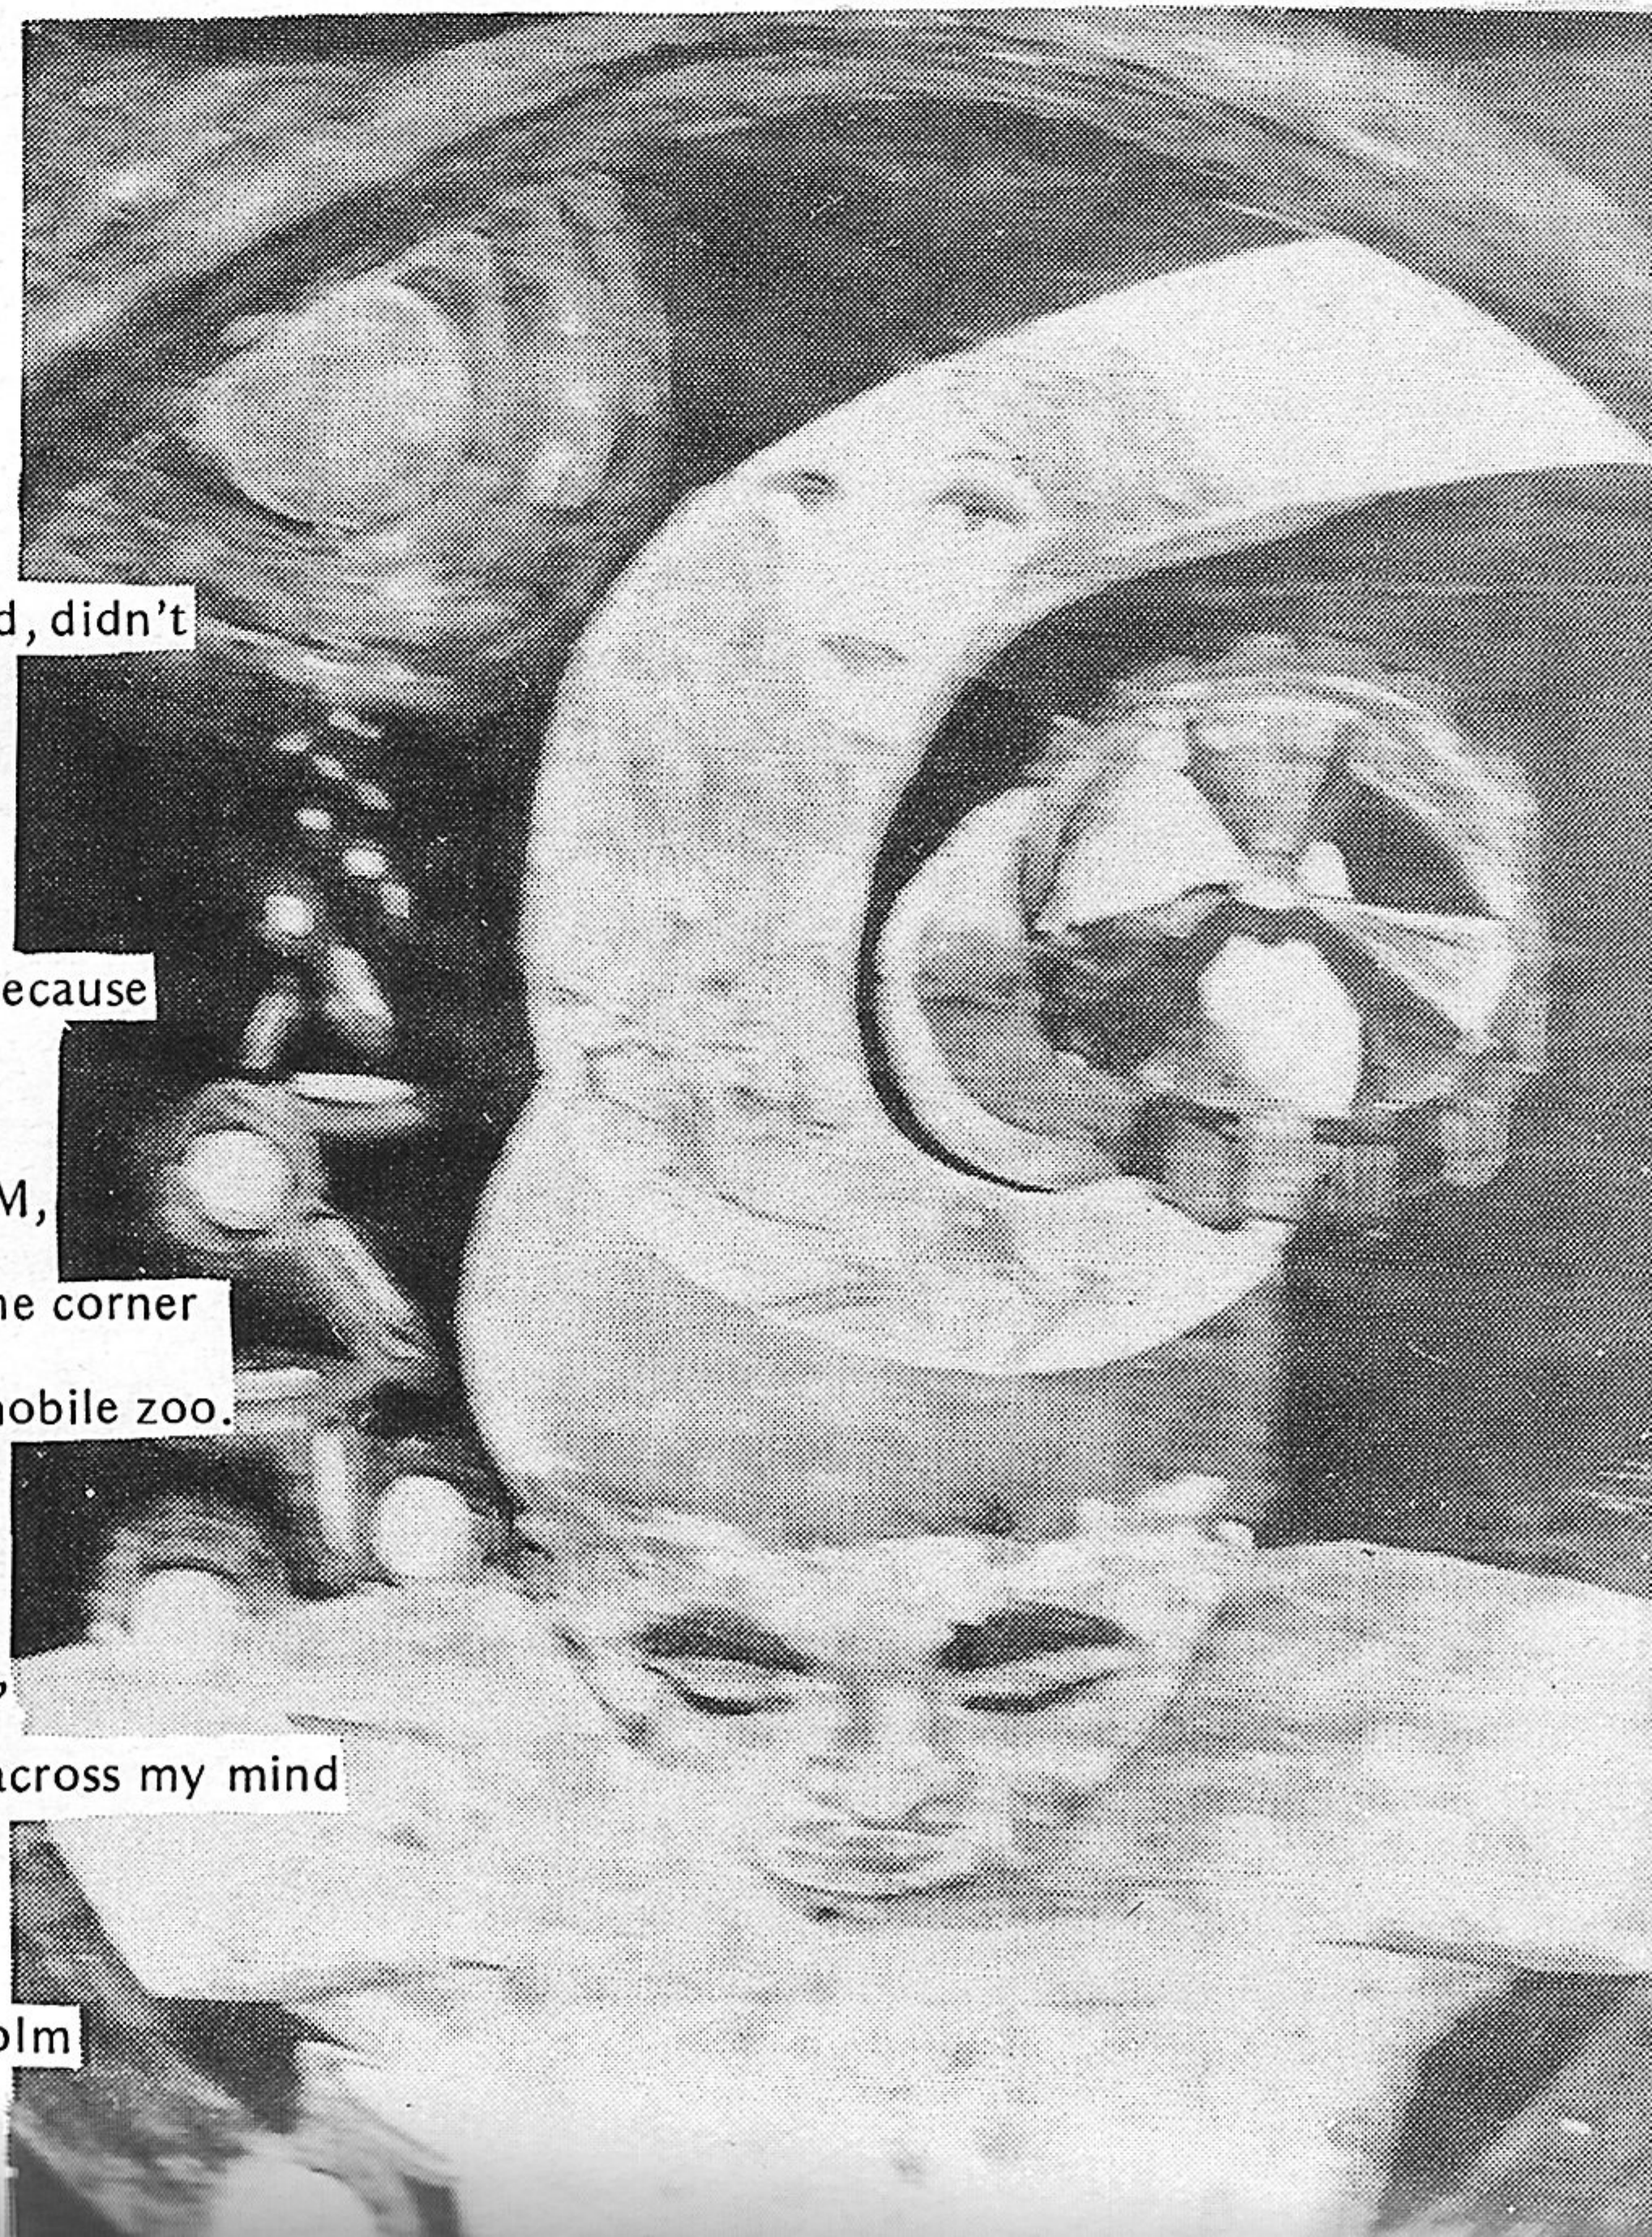

And I must marvel how deep this thing is,
Visible to so few,
For the mental Mona Lisa smile dancing across my mind is naught but a sororal wish,
That everthing that matters, does,
To him who matters most.

Sharon Chisholm

If there were no cars,
Or buses,
And
It was a three day journey to me
On foot, Would you still visit me
On consecutive Thursdays, To watch my colour T.V.?

Pride or Modesty
me
Good at everything
me

Better than you
You
Worse than me
You

I'm better than you I'm even better to a person
Than a banana split
is on a hot day You're like a book to someone who's blind

I can do anything
You can do nothing
Why

I'm even more modest than you.

poetry

Take all of me,
And then give me a little of yourself,
Not to flaunt in the faces
Of ancient lovers,
But to cherish
When the snow blows
Thick and wet
Upon the naked ground.

I only need
A crumb or two Of love,
If you can give it,
I wouldn't tape it
To a billboard
By the lakeshore
For all to stop and stare at
As they drove by;
I would wrap it up in emeralds
And bring it out only with the sun,
To watch its magnificence
Gleam and shine
And light my world.

To Whom it Concerns

Get off your pedestal, cur-dog of Erebus or rather (since you will not) Stay
there,
Fall when it falls
The chains with which you choke
Others
Will strangle you
And the voice with which you strike terror
Will not command Pity.
As the pieces crumble fall

Past the snivelling
grovelling Pack,

Debased
and Dehumanized beyond all ken of thought

Into the heart of Hell itself
Where Charon
Eternal ferryman over the river Styx Awaits.

And I will pay the offering coin
For you,
But not of gold or silver
As law demands
But of base copper
As you are base,
And the river of fire
Is home
To those who cheat
The boatman.

The Poet

Sketching his images
In language,
Desperately-faithfully-hopelessly-Grasping
At street people Saying,
"Please come read"—

Still he worked On, Unsuccessfully
Building his ego
On paper.

Home Movies

From little "Dutch Dances"
And Disneyland fancies,
Through jet boots and bells,
Countless miles
and smiles,
I travelled While you grew.

Ken Halbach

On the narrow wall
I will write in coloured chalk:

Please be there
every time I wake.
Then I'll walk away and wonder who would write such rubbish on a garden wall.

Carrol Seymour

Shop is closed for a while, now, due to poor business.

Giving, without return,
eventually has parching consequences:
Resources dry up, stocks run low.

Perhaps I should raise my prices. . .
Then only those who can afford to give generously, will take

The others will just window-shop.
